Council Urges Use Cf All News Media To Preach Gospel

(Msgr. James J. Walsh writes about Council debates and vitality of the Church on Page 7).

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Importance of modern means of communication for preaching the Gospels to all men and spreading the principles of peace, social justice and human dignity was emphasized in a formal resolution overwhelmingly adopted by the Fathers of the Second Vatican Council.

In their discussion of communications media, the Fathers stressed that the Church must study them so that "such a vast force will not be abandoned to evil." It was noted that the Church has the right and duty to "indicate to civil authorities their missions and duties in this field."

The council also heard a call for establishment of a Vatican office that will set up "an official organization on an international, national and diocesan basis for communications media and for the purpose of informing and forming public opinion."

In addition there was a request that "the most rapid means be used for the distribution of the more important and official documents of the Holy See to obviate erroneous reports about them," the council press bulletin reported.

"In this respect," it said, "reference was also made to the institution of an international Catholic news agency."

The communications media proposal was drawn up by a commission headed by Archbishop Martin J. O'Connor, rector of the North American College in Rome and president of the Pontifical Commission for Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

In the council motion, the Fathers petitioned the Pope to

Council Fathers Like 'The Voice'

Voice is proving to be a ular publication with many of the Bishops attending the Second Vatican Council, according to a letter just received from the Sacred Congregation of Religious at Vatican City. Signed "Gratefully, the Very Rev. Godfrey Poage, C.P.," the letter states:

"The Voice makes an important and popular contribution to our reading room. For this His Eminence, Valerio Cardinal Valeri, has asked me to thank you both in the name of the Congregation of Religious and of the Pontifical Office for Religious Vocations."

2ND COUNCIL SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 8, 1963

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope John XXIII has decided to postpone the opening of the second session of the Second Vatican Council until next September, it was announced to the Council Fathers by Archbishop Pericle Felici, secretary general of the council.

The prelate told the gathering in St. Peter's that the Holy Father "in response to the wishes of many council Fathers, especially those living a great distance from Rome, and also taking into account reasons of a pastoral character, has fixed the date for beginning of the second session of the council as Sept 8, 1963, instead of May 12."

Sept. 8 is the feast of the Nativity of Our Lady.

Eastern Orthodox Reunion Proposal Debated In Council

(Other Council news, comment, and pictures on Pages 2, 3, 4, 6, 7).

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Work of the Second Vatican Council was stepped up this week as the Council Fathers studied and debated a proposal to achieve unity between the Church and separated Eastern Christians.

This action came after Pope John XXIII had intervened to settle what had threatened to be a long and difficult debate on sources of Revelation.

Amleto Cardinal Cicognani president of the council Commission for the Oriental Churches, presented the proposal on Church unity. The press bulletin reported that he said "we are united in faith" with the separated Eastern Christians, "but we disagree on a few truths such as unity in Peter."

The Cardinal added that the proposals concern only the Orthodox churches and that "their purpose is to emphasize the doctrine of the Church in this matter in order that the council may prepare a document which can open the way to unity in the charity of Christ."

The press bulletin said that although some Fathers criticized the proposal for possibly offending Orthodox sensibilities, "on the other hand speakers pointed out the need to avoid every kind of false conciliatory tone, stating that union with the separated brothers should not be sought by being silent about or shelving truth of a dogmatic character, but outlining clearly and calmly Catholic doctrine without using polemical expression."

It was suggested that Catholic bishops meet with represen-

EDITOR'S COMMENT

Free World Dare Not 'Write Off' Cuba

In all the welter of confusion and clamor which marks the current stage of the Cuban crisis, these irrefutable facts stand out:

Cuba is a slave state of the communists, just as are Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and other satellites.

Fidel Castro, for all his blubbering and boasting, is just a puppet on a string twisted and twirled by his red masters.

Nikita Khrushchev is no more to be trusted in his statements and pledges today than any Kremlin ruler in the last 44 years.

Red Cuba, with or without "offensive weapons," is a greater threat now to the security of the Western Hemisphere than ever before.

In the wake of the Kennedy-Khrushchev confrontation there has been some concern and criticism expressed by those who feel that the President has retreated from the firm and decisive stand he voiced on Oct. 22. Those who express such an opinion are fearful that the United States, having taken the offensive, is now being jockeyed into a defensive position by the intrigues of the wily communists.

Such views have been most strongly expressed by Hal Hendrix, the Latin America editor of The Miami News. In his regular column last Sunday, he stated flatly that Cuba has been "written off" by the Kennedy administration. Mr. Hendrix wrote:

"Behind the scenes in Washington, this is basically how the 'Cuban crisis' has been resolved by the New Frontier — even though President Kennedy declared more than a year and a half ago that communism was not negotiable in the Western Hemisphere

"Since 1959, the U.S. officialdom in Washington has been engaged in futile wishful thinking about curbing the Castro-communist subversive influence radiating throughout

Some speakers said there was a need to distinguish clearly between what separates Catholics from Eastern Christians and what separates Catholics and Protestants. "The elements which unite the Catholic Church with the separated Oriental churches are in fact greater than those which divide them," it was stated.

The bulletin said:

"The Oriental Church, it was added, owes its birth, development, organization and its liturgy to the Apostles who founded it and to the Fathers of the first centuries, without owing anything historically to the Latin Church of Rome. This is a fact which must be taken into account when speaking with the separated brothers and which calls for the greatest tact and respect for their traditions and their rituals. It is necessary to assure them that union will never entail uniformity."

It was stated that it is dangerous to underestimate problems which stand in the way of union and it was also suggested that to make it clear that the proposal deals exclusively with the problem of union with the Eastern Churches, its name be changed to "De Unitate Christianorum" (On the Unity of Christians).

At the 24th session, the council's general secretary, Archbishop Pericle Felici, announced that according to Pope John's wishes a special commission was being set up to reformulate the proposals on the sources of Revelation.

This was being done, he said, because "the opinions expressed in the speeches of the past few days indicated that there would be a laborious and prolonged discussion of the project."

The instruction handed down by the Pope indicated that the new commission will have the task of reworking the proposals by "making it shorter and placing greater emphasis on the general principles of Catholic doctrine already treated by the Council

Debate on the general merits of the proposal on the sources of Revelation had dragged on for five days without any sign that it would be possible to begin a study of its various parts. The "debate" took the form of declarations of bishops to the council rather than spontaneous verbal exchanges since council rules do not allow impromptu remarks by the council Fathers.

During the five days, various objections to and defenses of the proposal were

Those objecting said that the proposal was too professorial in tone, too rigid in its declaration of truth, lengthy and repetitious. It was said that its ambiguity of expression might possibly create confusion and misunderstanding and that its severe tone could be offensive, thus setting back efforts to find a way toward reunion with separated Christians.

Those defending the proposal replied that it had been prepared by theologians of recognized outstanding ability and had been passed in its final form by the council's Central Preparatory Commission, many of whose members were cardinals. It was said that truth should offend no one, including the separated Christians who are also seeking truth.

The objection was raised that the proposal set forth teachings which are still being debated among various schools of theology. Defenders answered that the debates among the theological schools would be helped by guiding principles.

The vote on the motion indicated that the proposal should not be shelved and that the council should move on to discussion of the proposal's five chapters. But since the five chapters contain the questions on which a great difference of opinion had been expressed in the general dicussions, it became evident that the same differences would be expressed again as each chapter was takextend the commission's competence to cover the press.

The council press bulletin reported that "all the Fathers without exception expressed a favorable opinion and sometimes great praise of the project in general, which is considered good, useful, timely and rich in pastoral substance."

The press bulletin said that "marginal observations" suggested that better emphasis could be put on the right of the Church to concern itself with all instruments of social communication because of their influence on man and society.

It noted that the "pagan concept of life which is so widespread in our times . . . has its origin in great part in entertainment. Hence the need for the clergy and Catholic laity to institute schools for the Christian formation of directors and actors."

Other speeches, it said, urged Catholics living in a pluralistic society to pick and choose among newspapers and programs according to what offends their Faith and what does not. It was also urged that Catholics "act with determination and prudence, each according to his possibilities, so that fundamental principles may be respected. Cooperation between Catholics and the faithful of other Christian churches has already produced good results in this sectors in those countries where various denominations live together."

Speakers also emphasized the importance of communications media in mission areas where they are often the only means of spreading the Gospel. In this regard, the bulletin stated, it was "requested by some that Vatican Radio, which already performs such useful work, be made more powerful and that if possible a Vatican television transmitter be set up."

Following these discussions, the council presidency called for a vote to end debate on the grounds that the proposals had been sufficiently examined. The affirmative vote was unanimous.

Discussions on communications media opened at the council's 25th general meeting.

A report on the commission's proposals was made by Archbishop Rene Stourm of Sens, president of the French Bishops' Subcommission for Cinema, Radio and Television and a member of the council's Preparatory Commission for Communications Media.

Archbishop Stourm noted that communications media, including the press, are sources of entertainment for the modern world and that from this point of view they interest the Church as a mother aware of the needs of her children.

The council press bulletin reported that he pointed out that "communications media are never, in fact, indifferent in the moral sphere, considered both as a means of entertainment and a means by which ideas and culture are communicated."

The Archbishop also stated that youths make up a majority of the audience for entertainment and that they can draw either great good or great evil from it.

Some speakers expressed the hope that it would be laymen above all who would contribute their experience and work at these levels.

One speaker said that communications is a field in which all Christians, not only Catholics, can and must work for a recognition of fundamental principles.

POPE JOHN URGES DEVOTION: Only Mary Can Lead Us To Jesus'

VATICAN CITY (NC) - Pope John XXIII told a general audience of the need for devotion to Our Lady.

The Pope pointed out that the day was the feast of Our Lady's Presentation and recalled that as a child he was taken on that feast to a Marian Shrine in his village.

He said that the devotion to Our Lady which has guided him to this day and has led him to all the more important Marian shrines dates from that day.

Pope Marks 81st Birthday

ROME (NC) - Pope John XXIII marked his 81st birthday with the prayer to God: "Grace and favor You granted me, and Your Providence has preserved my spirit."

Pope John acknowledged his birthday with these words from the Book of Job (Job 10, 12) at the Mass he celebrated at the Pontifical Urban University here.

Speaking to four cardinals, more than 50 bishops and hundreds of students — all devoted onary work — the Pope mem he is willing to do the will of the Lord and accepts it without concern because "all days are good to be born and all days are good to die and there is no need to worry when life and mercy are drawn from this source."

On hand to greet the Pope when he arrived at the university not far from the walls of Vatican City were Gregorio Cardinal Agagianian, Prefect of the Sacred Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith which runs the university, and other officials of the congregation.

In the university's chapel were Laurean Cardinal Rugambwa, Bishop of Bukoba, Tanganyika; Norman Cardinal Gilroy, Archbishop of Sydney, Australia; and Valerian Cardinal Gracias, Archbishop of Bombay.

Pope John offered Mass in the chapel and then spoke briefly to the students and assembled

The Pope spoke of the Second Vatican Council and said that it was "neither force nor human energy" which guided the workings of the "great event."

He said it receives its development from the Lord "Who takes interest in His holy Church." It is natural, he said, that when so many are gathered together to speak, each one wishes to express his own thought. "The Church has given proof of her respect for freedom," he added, "especially in these circumstances."

On his return to the Vatican, the Pope received Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Primate of Poland, and the other Polish Bishops attending the council. The Bishops gave the Pope an album with photos of all the Marian shrines in Poland and then sang the Latin birthday greetings: "Ad plurimos annos" (for many more years).

Later in the day, the Pope received the Austrian, Hungarian, English and Irish Bishops attending the council.

At noon, more than 20,000 gathered in St. Peter's square to wish the Pope a happy birthday and to receive his blessing. The Vatican City telegraph office was flooded with telegrams from all over the world.

Council Has 2 Alternatives On Scripture And Tradition

ROME (NC) — The ecumenical council may adopt one of two views as a result of its discussions on the relationship between Scripture and Tradition, an official council expert said here.

Father Georges Tavard, A.A., of the Pittsburgh diocese, told reporters at a meeting of the .U.S. Bishops' press panel that the two views are:

1. That Scripture and Tradition appear as two sources of Faith (or as two sources of Revelation).

2. That Tradition and Scripture are not two sources standing side by side, but that Tradition is the explanation of Scripture by the Church.

Father Tavard also noted that the council's stand on the matter can affect the movement for Christian unity. Prior to the council's opening, the priest was a consultor of the Preparatory Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity and is now one of the experts named by Pope John XXIII to advise council Fathers.

POST-REFORMATION VIEW

Father Tavard said that the first view of the relationship maintains that Tradition contains the same truths as Scripture but in a more explicit way. He added that this view grew up among Catholic theologians in the post-Reformation controversies with Protestants and has a "polemical connotation."

He called the second view the "older position" and said that Protestants find it "much more understandable." It was formed, he continued, before the "Reformation forced theology to take sharper angles."

"If we adopt the newer view," he stated, "we run the danger of making this apological or polemical theology permanent."

But he emphasized that the two views are basically compatible, saying that "to adopt one is not to condemn the other."

Father Tavard stated that the post-Reformation view sometimes includes the idea that Tradition not only contains the same truths as Scripture but other truths as well.

He said the "older" view holds that "all of Faith is in Scripture, as interpreted by Tradition, and all Faith is in Tradition, but in a more explicit way."

During the past 10 years, he stated, there has been "an impressive movement within the (predominantly Protestant and Orthodox) World Council of Churches to recover the concept of Tradition." He continued:

"If we adopted a theology seeing Tradition as something completely separate from Scripture, we should run the danger of moving too far away from a position which the Protestants are approaching."

PUBLIC WORSHIP

He also asserted that the adoption of a position stressing the distinction between Scripture and Tradition "might influence the piety and the devotions of Catholics, giving them a less Biblical aspect."

Calling attention to a renewed emphasis on Scripture in the Church's public worship, Father Tavard said that the council "would run into trouble if it urged a Biblical liturgical piety on one hand and separated Scripture and Tradition on the other."

Defending the "older" view — that Tradition is the explanation of Scripture by the Church and that all Faith is in Scripture as interpreted by Tradition — he said:

"It is said by some theologians that the dogma of the Assumption cannot be found in Scripture... But Pius XII's bull of definition says that the ultimate foundation of the dogma of the Assumption is in Scripture."

He said this foundation could not be found by philologists studying Scripture but by "the meditation of the church on Scripture."

Statistics On Council Fathers Show Startling Comparisons

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH
Special Voice Correspondent

VATICAN CITY — When you look at the statistics concerning bishops in each country, some interesting and startling comparisons are suggested.

Africa with all its new nations lumped together has 296 bishops. Formosa and China despite the persecutions have 30 bishops here. Italy has the largest number of Council Fathers with 430, and the United States is second with 241. Put all of North America together and the figure is 404.

India with 84 bishops has nearly as many as Spain, 95, more than Argentina, 66, and Mexico, 65. We are used to thinking of India as a land steeped in paganism, held back by literally hundreds of mysterious "religious of the East," the kind of goose-pimply cults some of our tired fiction writers try out when they get older and figure Christianity just doesn't have what modern man needs.

India is all this indeed but the figures show that the Church has made extraordinary progress despite the enormous obstacles. One of the youngest bishops here told us that his father was the first convert in his family from paganism. Many of her bishops are young, fluent in English with a British accent, well versed not only in their own problems but in those

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Pope John XXIII has received in private audience an official of the Polish communist government, it was learned here.

'Luther Today Would Find No Cause To Attack Rome'

LONDON (NC) — Father Gordon Albion, broadcaster and historian, said in Sheffield that if Martin Luther returned today "he would find to his astonishment a Roman Church which he would never have attacked in her present aspect."

"Above all he would see that not one of the abuses which were the actual cause of his break with Rome remain in existence," he added.

Father Albion, speaking at the last of a series of meetings for Catholics and non-Catholics organized by the local Catholic Action group added:

"The mere existence of the Unity Secretariat shows a new attitude of charity towards non-Catholics. Yet this is not a council of reunion but of renewal within the Church."

Each council had its own special purpose and had to be related to the time in which it was held, he said. This one found the Church in the position where she could no longer command but had to negotiate.

Dealing with possible changes after the council, Father Albion said: "We will probably find that the laity will be drawn more and more into its (the Church's) life. It is expected that there will be some decentralization in the work of the Church."

But he told the non-Catholics: "The Church must be intolerant to the utmost degree over the very last article of

Noted Protestant Scholar Says Observers Are Pleased

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Non - Catholic observers at the Second Vatican Council are pleased at the concern shown by the council Fathers for the Catholic Church's relations with other churches, according to a leading Protestant scholar.

"I am not betraying any secrets when I tell you how glad we are to note how a concern for ecumenism pervades these discussions," said Prof. Oscar Cullman of the Universities of Paris and Basel (Switzerland).

"Yet even here," the noted Scriptural and patristic scholar told newsmen, "we must be on our guard against illusions. We certainly hope with all our hearts that this renewal (of the Catholic Church) will be realized. For we are convinced that if it is, it will make so much easier the dialogue between Catholic and non-Catholic that will go on after the council."

Cullman stated that Protestants tend to look on the Catholic Faith as having "too much," and that Catholics tend to look on Protestantism as having "too little."

"I believe," he stated, "that the dialogue will move forward when our Catholic brethren cease to look negatively on this 'not quite enough' in what they find in us, that is when they don't see it as something missing ... but as a -concentration made under the prompting of the Holy Spirit upon what we feel ought to form the single nucleus of our faith in Christ."

Listed by Cullman among the "council's ecumenical achievements already capable of assessment" were the following: the establishment of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, the "miracle" of the presence of non - Catholics at the council, the mutual trust between non - Catholic observers at the council and Catholic authorities, and also the observers' "interior participation" in the council discussions.

He added that the observers have been struck "by the freedom with which the council Fathers state their opinions."

Latin America. Because the Soviets have agreed at this date to withdraw some offensive missiles and jet bombers from communist Cuba there is no real reason to believe there will be any slowdown in their less spectacular efforts to dig deeper into Latin America. Nor will there be any real peace in the Americas in the near future."

Mr. Hendrix is certainly a well-informed reporter and some of his "exclusives," in the opinion of this writer, merit nomination for a Pulitzer prize. We agree with his opinion that the communists contemplate no slowdown in their efforts at subversion and sabotage.

However, we do not agree with his view that President Kennedy has "written off" Cuba. Certainly the President knows as much as does Mr. Hendrix about the communists and their plans - and more, by far. Mr. Kennedy is a great student of history and, most important, he has the advantage of all "top secret" intelligence reports from throughout the world. Besides, he must be impressively aware of public opinion throughout the nation.

And public opinion can be an all-determining factor. It was a lack of public opinion - based upon lack of public knowledge leading to public apathy - which was responsible for many years for the government's admittedly "soft" attitude toward the communists. It was the same ignorance, lethargy and lack of interest which made possible until recent months the tolerance of Castro in Cuba.

Now, at last, the nation is aroused. So, too, are Latin America and other parts of the world. Here is a cross-section sampling of public opinion:

THE TABLET, LONDON: "The issue has been joined and there is no chance of a friendly Cuba until Castro has been deposed. It is to be hoped that President Kennedy has made his dispositions in such a way that deposition can be carried through with as little violence and loss of life as possible.'

ESQUIU, BUENOS AIRES - "Cuba is not a hospital for lepers that must be quarantined but a huge prison whose doors must be battered down . . . Let all of the Americas restate their unity through the O.A.S. and proceed at full speed to liberate

THE PILOT, BOSTON - "One thing is certain: The USSR will co nothing that is not in the cause of furthering world revolution on its own terms. The reversal in Cuba may be part of the c'd Pavlovian game of ringing the bell but offering no meal (to the dogs in experiment.) Or a meal that is only a bone. In either case, the facts of life - and the fact of freedom - remain unchanged."

THE NEW WORLD, CHICAGO - "Let's not be foolish enough to allow ourselves to lapse into a spiritual lethargy now that the extremely crucial moments seem to have abated a bit. We and the rest of the world are by no means out of danger. Nikita may have had a change of program, but there is no indication of a change of heart. Remember his promise to bury us. He and his comrades will find new ways to try . . . The danger is far from over. We must not be deceived into letting our guard down.'

THE CRITERION, ST. LOUIS — "Castro was, and is, nothing more than a second-rate little leaguer who, for a few brief moments, mistakenly thought that he had entered the major league. Even if he were completely purged of all his communistic tendencies he would be incompetent to head any government anywhere . . . No one, we feel sure, is so optimistic as to think that Russia's agreement to dismantle its missile bases brings an end to the crisis. Are our only alternatives nuclear war on the one hand and communist domination on the other? It will be up to mankind now, at this critical juncture, to demand what it wants."

THE TIDINGS, LOS ANGELES - "This is a moment of truth for Catholics in a very special way. Now is the time to take a long look at the murderous purpose of the communists in establishing their Cuban IRBMs and then, with that very clearly in mind, to read again the penetrating and prophetic encyclical of Pius XI on Atheistic communism. The ultimate weapon of the free world is not a nuclear bomb. The ultimate weapon is our will to resist."

Finally, let us remember that while exchanging messages with Khrushchev on that historic day only last month, Oct. 22, Mr. Kennedy also addressed these words "to the captive people

"I speak to you as a friend . . . as one who shares your aspirations for liberty and justice for all. And I have watched with deep sorrow how your nationalist revolution was betrayed — and how your fatherland fell under foreign domination. Now your leaders are no longer Cuban leaders inspired by Cuban ideals. They are puppets and agents of an international conspiracy . .

"Many times in the past, the Cuban people have risen to throw out tyrants who destroyed their liberty. And I have no doubt that most Cubans today look forward to the time they will be truly free - free from foreign domination, free to choose their own leaders, free to select their own systems, free to speak and write and worship without fear or degre-

Those hardly sound like the words of a man preparing to "write off" his friends. Rather, they are the words of a man commended for his action "as necessary and wise and as representative of the minds of the American people" by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll in a statement issued from Vatican City on Oct. 22.

Bishop Carroll said it was his fervent prayer "that this strong and positive American stand will act as a means of deterring communist leaders from further rash steps endangering the peace of the world" and directed prayers begging God "to direct and guide President Kennedy in his most serious responsibilities that he may pursue a course of action that will safeguard the peace of the world."

In these days of "living on the razor's edge," let us not forget the final verse of our national anthem:

> "Blest with victory and peace, may the heav'n rescued land

Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.

Then conquer we must, when our cause it is

And this be our motto: 'In God is our trust.'"

Non-Catholic Observers See No 'Rubber-Stamp' Council

By FATHER JOHN B. SHEERIN VATICAN CITY - Here in Rome the journalists are anxious to publicize the reactions of the non-Catholic observers but they find that the observthemselves are reluctant to voice their reactions.

This, attitude on the part of the observers is understandable. They are FR. SHEERIN not bound in secrecy to withhold what they hear in Council but they have been asked by Vatican authorities to be discreet and they are the soul of discretion.

They do not want to violate the hospitality shown them nor do they care to make statements that might have unhappy reverberations in their own denominations.

If they were to speak too enthusiastically of the Council, some of their co-religionists might fear they were contemplating conversion to Rome.

I have talked to many of the observers and in the course of the conversation they unavoidably let slip remarks that indicate their reactions but they generally follow up with the request, "Please don't quote me?"

Without violating any confidences. I can report some general reactions of observers without mentioning names. First, there is among them a sense of surprise and admiration for the complete freedom of expression granted the bishops.

Some observers came to Rome expecting a "rubber - stamp" Council. Instead they found a rich diversity of opinions. As Cardinal Bea said in a recent talk about his work with observers, "Some of them were surprised . . . seeing how a cardinal can voice an opinion which is contrary to the opinion of another cardinal."

In fact, I would say that at this stage of the proceedings, the observers are hoping for some restrictions on freedom of speech so as to get on with the Council.

They have been impressed also by the confidence reposed in them.

Not only are they in the Council itself but as Cardinal Bea remarked they are "truly pleased" by "the trust with which all the documents have been placed at their disposal which the Council Fathers have received."

The Secretariat for . moting Christian Unity has issued to the observers an invitation to once - a - week conferences at which they listen to theologians or liturgists addressing them on a Council topic.

At these conferences they freely express their criticisms, observations and suggestions about the Council. (These meetings of course are not open to journalists or the general pub-

NOT 'SIMPLE OBSERVERS' Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, sec-

He said that these discussions were "extremely interesting and beneficial", many of them having been initiated by individual bishops who wanted to find out the frank opinions of the observers on Council topics.

As you walk along Via Conciliazone almost any day, you can see observers engaged in conversation with Council figures as they sip that horrible Roman coffee at sidewalk ca-

The enthroning of the Book of Gospels at the beginning of each session has also impressed the observers as have the high level of theological content in the bishops' speeches, the bishops' solicitude for intimate and reverent participation of the faithful in the liturgy and the extraordinary universality in unity reflected in the Council.

Debates at Council Show Vitality of Church

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH Special Voice Correspondent

VATICAN CITY - After last week's much publicized debates in the council chamber, we have noticed that some people have been left confused and perhaps a bit let down.

For one week the news coming out of the council made it that clear great many bishops were MSGR. WALSH satisfied not with the project or presentation ibject matter on "The Sources of Revelation." This, despite the fact that the preparatory commission dealing with Faith and Morals had spent a couple years drawing up an outline of the Church's teaching on Scripture and Tradition, the inspiration and literary composition of the Bible, its place in the Church, etc.

For seven days the actual subject matter was never touched in the debates. All the discussions centered on the formulation of the matter, the way it was presented, the phraseology used, the emphasis placed, and so on.

Then finally came the not too surprising information that Pope John stepped in and ordered the whole subject to be postponed until a new project could be worked up under a newly formed commission. This is being done at present.

It's understandable that after waiting weeks for some "different angle" in reporting the council, some newspapers leaped on this "dispute" with glee. A few went all out with misleading and inaccurate headlines, such as "Vatican Council split on Theology." Others treated the matter for what it was - a free and open discussion of personal convictions about a very important subject.

However, it is inevitable that some are unduly disturbed to hear that bishops actually oppose each other with no little eloquence in the council chamber. But this shouldn't worry anyone. Not a bit. After all we have some remarkable precedents for difference of opinions even among the Apostles. Paul was involved in two we know of — and goodness knows how many others we know nothing about. He "withstood Peter to his face" and he certainly let Barnabas know plainly why he disagreed with him.

an ecumenical council such differences are expected and common. They show the Church to be healthy and vital. It is very interesting to recall, for instance that in the First Vatican Council in 1870, Cardinal Manning wanted to bring up the subject of papal infallibility long before it was expected to be treated. His proposal got a very cold reception and then led to a very hot debate. Even the president of the council refused to go along with it.

Manning appealed directly to Pope Pius IX. The pope directed that the subject of papal infallibility should be taken out of place and dealt with then. Even so, the opposition grew. A group even tried to get Napoleon III to use his influence to prevent the draft from being examined.

The great Cardinal Newman indicated that he was against going into the matter. Two thirds of the American bishops went on record with the same atti-

Why? It is very important to realize that neither Newman nor the American bishops denied the doctrine of papal infallibility. None of them called it into question. They had always accepted the traditional belief that the pope in certain matters by God's will was infallible.

Their opposition was based on one or the other of these reasons: It was not the right time to define the doctrine which surely would stir up more criticism and hard feeling among non-Catholic Christians; or it seemed to many impossible that "so subtle a concept could be precisely defined."

The Americans at the Council led by Archbishop Kenrick of St. Louis felt that spelling out the doctrine that the pope was infallible would make their work of conversion far more difficult. The German and French bishops for the most part agreed with them. And the discussion rolled on and on.

It is fatal to forget that the Holy Spirit has a primary part in these Councils. This, with the advantage of hindsight, is now obvious to us about 1870, for when the final vote was taken it read: 533 placet, 2 non placet. Some who felt they could not go along with it at the present time left before the voting. All but a very few, however, immediately gave their assent to Pius IX.

With regard to last week's debates, then, we are helped by history and the known facts of the present matter to realize first of all what the difference of opinion did NOT mean. It did not mean thatany bishop was denying or calling into question a truth of the Catholic faith always accepted. Nor did it mean that any individual or group was trying to introduce a novel doctrine that contradicted an article of faith or threw doubt

The deposit of faith, that is the totality of Christian truth was completed with the death of the last apostle, St. John. No Council will ever come out with a sensational doctrine which all will be required to believe.

In understanding these matters, we have to keep in mind that while bishops are indeed successors of the apostles, they are also human beings. All accept the fundamental doctrines of Christianity without question. But in other areas not defined, their viewpoints are shaped by their background, environment, native talents.

Moreover, they represent people of every nation, every level of education, all kinds of culture ancient and modern. Some are living in communist countries, some in almost totally Catholic nations, still others in lands where they are a weak minority, etc. All these facts help form their viewpoint and convictions and influence their attitude in the council.

Why were the majority of the bishops dissatisfied with the project on the Sources of Revelation? Apparently for many reasons. It was too long, some said, not concise enough. It had too much of the theology textbook approach, "excessive professorial and scholastic character." They wanted more of the "pastoral" character, that is, the type of approach and explanation that would aid greatly in the every day teaching, guiding and sanctifying of souls in their charge.

Some claimed the project overlooked important points that need attention, as for instance, how people were saved before God first revealed His truths to man, and what can be said about the fate of the non-bap-

With so much emphasis being laid on preparing the way for eventual unity among Christian groups, it was felt that in the project there was a "danger of making the truths incomprehensible to the separated brethren.'

And here an extra word should be added. Some may think that the quest of unity has become so pressing that we are ready to make all sorts of compromises never considered before. This is not true. There can never by any sacrifice of a dogma of faith, no watering down of a revealed truth. However, there can be, in the spirit of charity urged by Pope John, new approaches, a rewording of old harsh condemnations left from more angry days. There can be adopted an attitude whereby we try to "explain truth

Time For A Fresh Start Advent -

Ba You Barbar

MHERN

By FR. KILIAN McGOWAN, C.P.

Advent is life in miniature. Advent is a period of spiritual preparation for the coming of Our Blessed Savior at Christmas. Life is but a period of preparation for coming of Christ at the end of our earthly lives.

Life is a succession of new beginnings.

Each new day Fr. McGowan - in fact, each new moment - we start life anew. With the past beyond all controlling, and the future yet to arrive, there remains but the present moment with which to carve out our destiny. Advent is a new beginning. It marks the start of the yearly presentation through the sacred liturgy of the cycle of Christ's mysteries. It's a time to entrust past seasons of our life to the merciful forgetfulness of God and to renew our trust in His providential guidance of the future. More important, it's a time to plan wisely for the present moment.

Without Christ, life is meaningless. For a meaningful life calls for goals that inspire for opportunities that lift a man out of himself - and for means to realize the most noble ambitions. All are found in Christ, of whom St. Paul writes: "With Him, has not God given us all good things?"

Life is an invitation. It's an invitation to our intelligences to preoccupy themselves with God, to our hearts to center themselves on Christ the Way, and to our lives to be absorbed in the glory of God. Wedded to the precious gift of life God has given the freedom of will that we may determine how that gift is used.

During Advent, St. Paul reminds us of another invitation from the mercy of God. In the epistle of the first Sunday, we read this invitation: "Put you on the Lord Jesus Christ." During Advent we should study anew God's plan of life. Increased meditation should be made on the total vision of life given by Our Lord.

In life, there is the coming and going of the various seasons. Each has its special character and brings special helps as it caters to the various needs of nature. So also in Advent as in each person of the liturgy — there is a special grace that reproduces another spiritual trait of Christ in our souls.

Life is made bearable through hope. How crushing and oppressive would be the tensions of life, the sufferings of body and mind, the many disappointments of life if we couldn't turn to Christ for comfort and encouragement! Much that life has to offer makes sense only when seen through the Cross of Christ.

Advent is a season of hope. It teaches us not to seek visible rewards in life, but to fix our hearts on the unsearchable riches of Christ. It tells us to hope for what cannot be seen by our eyes or grasped by our hands - the fullness of the Christlife brought by the Infant Redeemer.

Advent is a season of confident longing for the coming of Christ more perfectly in our lives as Savior, as Sanctifier, as King. The same thing could be said of life itself!

Council Change Language

By JOSEPH BREIG

I have a feeling that I am getting the feel of the ecumenical council from my study of press office bulletins, briefings of newsmen and reports of interviews with various council Fathers.

In what I am about to say, however. I may be mistaken. After all, final decisions will depend not only on the council's deliberations, but also upon Pope John and the Holy Spirit.

With that preamble, perhaps I may say that my guess is that the council will prove to be conservatively progressive.

For example, it will probably give us our own languages in part of the Mass, but not in as much of the Mass-as many of us would like. Altogether, I think the overall likelihood is for changes in many areas, but not great change.

My own preference would be for striking changes. I think the people generally are ready for them. But in any case, once the process of change is initiated, it is almost certain to continue in the future.

If not now, then later, I believe that ideas like those of Bishop William Duschak, vicar apostolic of Calapan in the Philippines, will be largely put into effect, and that very great good will come of them.

Bishop Duschak proposed a "world Mass" which would speak plainly not only to Catholics of all tongues, but to oth-

Let us note that Bishop Duschak is not against Latin; as he said, he loves Latin; "it is and should remain the language of the Church."

But the language of the Church's public worship, he feels, is another matter. Any tongue other than that of the people "deprives them of their right to participate in the Mass."

Bishop Duschak replied to three stock objections - that Latin is a symbol of unity, that use of native languages might lead to "nationalistic outlook" and schisms, and that translation into the tongues might distort Christian teaching.

His replies seem to me to dispose of such arguments.

He noted that the Mass he suggests would consist chiefly of Christ's words taken from Scripture - and we already have Scripture in every lan-

If Scripture can be translated without distortion, why can't the Mass? Bishop Duschak went on to ask this pointed question:

"How do you think people learn their religion? In Latin? They learn it in their mother tongue. Their faith is enshrined in the mother tongue."

As to Latin being a symbol of unity, Bishop Duschak pointed to St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, which speaks of "One body and one Spirit . . . one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all . . . "

St. Paul, he remarked, said nothing about one language. (Bishop Duschak might have added that even as things stand now, there are about a dozen tongues in which Mass is offered, many of them languages. of the people.)

Voter Apathy In Dominican Election Feared By Bishops

SANTO DOMINGO (NC) -Dominican Catholics have been reminded by their Bishops that they have a grave duty in conscience to cast their votes in the Dec. 20 elections, the first free balloting in this land for decades.

The Bishops expressed fear of voter apathy because the year of provisional government that followed the end of the Trujillo dictatorship has seen much political confusion, fragmentation of parties and resultant frustrations.

This could open the way to Castroist - communist victory or to another dictatorship, the Bishops warned, saying: "There are parties of extremist ideas, both of the right and of the left, which would deny the most ele-

On the Sunday five days before his death, Archbishop Swint made an arduous 150-mile trip to his hometown of Pickens, in the West Virginia hills, to dedicate a new brick church in Sacred Heart parish, replacing a frame church built in 1900.

Ohio Sunday Law Revision Defeat Spurs Enforcement

CINCINNATI (NC) — Defeat of a proposed amendment to Ohio's Sunday closing law has spurred enforcement of the law in Cincinnati and elsewhere in the state.

In a statewide referendum, voters rejected a proposed amendment to the state constitution which would have permitted the sale of "milk, milk products, any food item or food product for human or animal consumption."

City Manager C.A. Harrell of Cincinnati has ordered resumption of a drive against Sunday law violatiors begun in

In Dayton, City Manager Herbert Starick reported that he plans to confer with law enforcement groups. In other communities action against violators is either under way or in the planning stage.

The present Ohio law restricts Sunday business to sales of items of "necessity and charity" without spelling out the specific kinds of businesses that may stay open. It also allows persons who observe another day than Sunday as their Sabbath to engage in normal business operations on Sunday provided they refrain from them on their Sab-

Reds Aim For Press First'

By J. J. GILBERT

WASHINGTON (NC) - A reminder of the central position of a responsible press in free nations has been issued by a unit of the Senate's Committee on the Judiciary.

A subcommittee has released a collection of articles describing how the communists put free newspapers amongtheir first targets in the Red takeovers of 11 nations.

Writers who witnessed communist penetration and exploitation of the press give first hand accounts that drew from Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the judiciary subcommittee, the comment that the Reds see a free press "powerful bulwark" against them and have been "ruthless" in efforts to destroy it.

A Cuban newspaperman relates that the Castro Reds began by confiscating the properties and offices of newspapers favorable to the Batista regime.

Then the Castro forces turned gradually on the newspapers which had supported their revolution. They agitated to provoke internal dissension among employees, applied economic restrictions, physically interfered with delivery of the papers, began accusing their editors of collaboration with Batista and finally seized the publications outright.

The author of the Cuban account claims many of the tricks used to destroy the integrity of Cuban papers are planned for other Latin American countries, even though their governments are not communist

For example, one device is to plant numerous Red agents among the mechanical and editorial employees of a publication. They launch a campaign of agitation whose ultimate aim ostensibly is to turn out the management and give the paper's control to the employees - who are led by the communist

Sen. Eastland contends in his introduction to the 100-page booklet that Americans have come to take the blessing of a free press for granted.

He warns: "An attitude of mind which regards our free press as a God-given, irrevocable natural right inclines toward disregard of the influences at work to corrupt and destroy this priceless posses-

Msgr. John S. Kennedy, a prominent Catholic editor and author, who spoke at the annual Pan American Mass celebrated here on Thanksgiving

Msgr. Kennedy, editor of the Catholic Transcript of Hartford, Conn, and rector of St. Joseph's Cathedral there, spoke at the Mass offered by Msgr. John K. Cartwright, Vicar General of the Washington archdiocese.

Monsignor Kennedy said that Karl Marx used to jest that contemporaries on his who recoiled from his outright atheism did in fact "make God a kind of constitutional monarch treated with distant, formal respect, but rigorously excluded from everyday life and the community concerns of men."

"Does not this criticism have concrete application in our own case?" Monsignor Kennedy ask-

"Are we not, as we strive for a better future, really precluding it by assuming that we can enhance the dignity of man while ignoring the dignity of God, of which the former is but the image, or that we can achieve human brotherhoood while prescinding from the Divine Fatherhood?

"If so, we are making a catastrophic mistake, to be paid for by generations yet to come," he said.

Finally an emphatic complaint was made that there was little encouragement given to scientific research in theology and exegesis of Scripture.

This raises another question about which more and more will be heard as time goes on. In 1943 Pope Pius XII to the amazement of some encouraged Catholic Biblical scholars to use new scientific material both in their efforts to interpret and to translate the Bible. Since then the Catholic Biblical movement has become extremely active.

Father Raymond Brown, S.S., in a very interesting article, 'Our new approach to the Bible," states that "in the last hundred years there has been a growth in scientific knowledge unparalleled in the history mankind.

He explains that the biblical movement has been aided considerably by a) the advance in language studies. When it was discovered how to decipher hieroglyphics and cuneiform, new light was thrown on biblical matters and a new witness to ancient history besides the Bible was thus found. b) Increase in the knowledge of ancient history through records hitherto unknown or not understood, all of which has helped clarify much in the Old Testament. c) The science of archeology which has "unfolded before our eyes great Canaanite cities" in Palestine and added a wealth of information about biblical problems.

However, this new scientific approach to the Bible has not been received with enthusiasm and approval by all. In the reworking of the project dealing with Holy Scripture, some of the Fathers are insistent that more encouragement be given to such scientific research.

It was quite a week of debate.

CCD Success Depends On Laity, Institute Is Told

The success of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine depends on the laity, the "sleeping giants of Holy Mother Church", a one-day CCD institute was told last Friday.

Meeting at St. Rose of Lima school auditorium, CCD membeers from parishes throughout the Diocese heard Brother H. Albert, F.S.C., urge them to "get one more person to work in the CCD."

other Albert, director of teacher training in the Chicago archdiocese, said the work of the CCD sometimes becomes discouraging because of the "personal sacrifices that must be made."

But, he said, "the salvation of many souls lies in the balance and the CCD is the only deciding factor".

"This is the work we have been put on earth to do," said Brother Albert. "It is not just a job, not just helping Father. We have been given the Faith, talents, health and education so that we may use them to bring Christ to the less privileged."

MESSAGE OF CHRIST

Pointing out that the "family of Christ has many who need help," Brother Albert said "we must give it to them".

He called on the CCD workers to be "renewed and revitalized in spirit, for the message of Christ".

Emphasizing that the success of the CCD depends on how well organized it is, Brother Albert said a good CCD stems from each person knowing his job and doing it efficiently.

Brother Albert spoke at the evening session of the institute which was followed by a round table discussion of CCD executive boards.

Earlier, at the afternoon sesson, the institute heard a talk by Mrs. W. S. Miller of Indianapolis, member of the national CCD Executive Board.

Mrs. Miller stressed that well-trained helpers are a "must" for any successful CCD group.

"Find their skills, talents, professions," she said, "and then put them to work."

Mrs. Miller urged her listeners to "seek out those people in your parish who have never done anything and sell them on the idea of helping with the CCD program".

Pointing out that a good leader "puts everybody to work," Mrs. Miller, emphasized that "you shouldn't put leaders in charge who would rather do all-the work themselves".

The enlisting of the physically handicapped in the work of the CCD has been overlooked by many parishes, said Mrs. Miller. Many of them can use the telephone she said, and in this way they can help in carrying out CCD activities.

The institute program opened with a Mass in St. Rose of Lima Church celebrated by Monsignor R. E. Philbin, diocesan CCD director.

More than 100 men and worms, en have already enrolled for membership in the new Catholic Guild of Telephone Workers organized recently with the approval of the Diocese of Miami.

According to Father Vincent Sheehy, assistant pastor, St. Stephen parish, West Hollywood, chaplain, the Guild is under the patronage of Our Lady of the Bells and is modeled after similar telephone guilds in northern cities.

The main purpose of the new organization, whose membership is open to all Catholic employees of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph in South Florida, is to promote the spiritual life of each member as well as to sponsor social and athletic programs. The Guild plans an annual Communion breakfast in addition to annual retreat for all members,

Building Ahead Of Schedule At Marymount

BOCA RATON — Construction of Florida's first Catholic two-year liberal arts college for women is progressing ahead of schedule here according to Mother Mary de la Croix, coordinator of the program for the erection of the fifth Marymount College in the ited States.

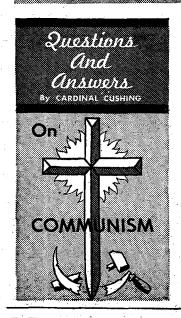

A two-story academic and science building, three - story dormitory, student center and utility building are now being erected on Military Trail just north of the University Park Golf Course. "If the present schedule is maintained, as anticipated, the buildings should be ready well in advance of September, 1963, when classes begin," Mother de la Croix said.

The school will be administered by the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary who operate Marymount Colleges in the United States and in Rome, Paris, London, and Barcelona.

Marxists are in power, the Christian religion has been marked for "liquidation," which means extinction. Skillful changes of tactics have been used by the Communists in order to wipe out both Catholics and Protestants. There were carried out huge hysterical campaigns against "the foreigners," making the missionaries from non-Communist lands the butt of this persecution. In this reign of terror it was that Bishop Francis Xavier Ford was martyred. Jailing missionaries, forcing them to live under the most brutal conditions, attempting by every vile means to extort "confessions" from them, the Reds were able by death or exile to get rid of most of the "foreign" missionaries, both Catholic and Protestant.

Q. Did they follow up this persecution with new tactics designed to liquidate religion?

A. Having got rid of the "foreign" missionaries, the Reds changed their tactics once more and sought to bring about what amounts to Communist control of the Churches, Thus, among the Catholics, they formed "patriotic" associations, which led to the schism away from the Vatican. The aim of this schism is to break Chinese Catholics away from any contact with the Papacy and to make them completely subservient to the Red rulers. Similar procedure is being carried on against Protestants.

Q. What are the "Peoples' Communes" and how do they work?

A. There have been many studies made of the alleged "Peoples' Communes" which show, even by Communist admissions, that they bring about a barrack-like existence among a great portion of the Mainland China population. In 1958 and thereafter, Red China converted hundreds of thousands of "collective farms" into 26,000 Peoples' Communes. A study by SEATO (South Eastern Asia Treaty Organization) shows that this was accompanied by gross regimentation, destruction of the family unit, and widespread forcing of women into manual labor.

Q. What is the prime purpose of the "Commune" system? A. It has several important purposes, including the making of the Chinese peasants into serfs of the State, as Lenin and Stalin did with the Russian peasants in outlining and carrying through the collectivization of the land. Its immediate, and perhaps primary, purpose, however, is to disrupt the family unit by bringing about communal kitchens and extensive kindergartens. In this way the children will be completely divorced from the influence of their parents and reared under strict Communist indoctrination.

Q. What has been the main aim of the Communists of the world so far as the United States is concerned, since Red China became a reality?

A. In the United States itself. with a climax in 1950, the Communists and their appeaser friends sought to bring about device which the appeasers used after 1950 to try to obtain Red Chinese recognition?

A. They set on foot the rumor, absolutely unsubstantiated by any fact, that the Mao Tse-tung regime was about to break with Soviet Russia. It was pictured as becoming "another Tito."

Q. Was there any proof to oppose this rumor?

quick recognition of Red China by the United States and admission of Red China to the United Nations. It is clear that with the double veto of Soviet Russia and Red China, plus the intimidation and propaganda which have been carried on by all Soviet - controlled governments, that such action would have captured the United Nations for the "Soviet bloc," imprisoned the United States even more than it is today as a weak and ineffective member of the United Nations. Thereby the door would have been opened quite easily for Soviet conquest of the world.

A. This rumor, which appeared in the columns of many of the commentators who are constantly taking the appearer side, flew in the face of the facts in regard to Red Chinese relations with Soviet Russia. As early as the Seventh World Congress of the Communist International, in 1935, the Chinese Communist Party was of such high standing in the international Communist movement that it was chosen to give the "comradely greeting" to the delegates of all the other Communist parties. On that occasion, it declared: "Long live the world proletarian revolution! Long live our leader and teacher, Comrade Stalin."

This was continually through the years the attitude of the Chinese Communist leadership. toward Soviet Russia and its leadership. It has gone down to the present. On June 2, 1959, Soong Ching Ling — the former Madame Sun Yatsen - Vicepremier of Red China, wrote an article in the Peking Review for the comrades of the world, entitled "China and the Soviet" Forever Stand Together."

Q. How did this important personage, speaking for the Chinese Communist Ir 'ers, prove the unity of Recana with Soviet Russia?

A. By many arguments which pointed clearly to the leader-$ ship of the Soviet Communist Party in the international Communist conspiracy. Above all she stressed: "Joint actions based on mutually arrived - at decisions derived from the common Marxist-Leninist world outlook."

DEAF MAN PERFECTS SMALLEST HEARING AID

Miami, Fla. — (Special) — A remarkable midget hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a most unusual idea and design in a product for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear but not understand. This new hearing instrument provides "earlevel" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television, and radio at his ear rather than at a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of 4 transistors, the user cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately \(^1\lambda\)-ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

When You Shop Mention THE VOICE Barry College recently observed the 22nd anniversary of its founding with the blessing and opening of three new buildings on its 85-acre campus in Miami Shores.

Msgr. William Barry, P.A., pastor, St. Patrick parish, Miami Beach, only living founder of the women's college, officiated at the dedication of a new college union building named Thompson Hall in memory of the late John G. Thompson of Coral Gables, a co-founder of the liberal arts college who died suddenly early this year; and two dormitories, Regina Caeli and Regina Mundi.

The only Catholic women's college south of Washington, D.C., was established in 1940 by Monsignor Barry; his brother, the late Bishop Patrick Barry, for whom the college is named, and their sister, the late Mother Mary Gerald, O.P., who served as Mother General of the Adrian Dominican Sisters for 28 years.

A Solemn Mass of Requiem for Mother Mary Gerald, whose first anniversary of death coincided with Founders' Day, was sung by Monsignor Barry in the college auditorium following the installation of a plaque in Cor Jesu chapel commemorating Mother Gerald's long term as founding - president of the college.

Assisting were more than 800 members of the student body, the college faculty, and hundreds of friends of the Adrian Dominican Sisters who administer the instituty. Mother Mary Genevieve, who succeeded Mother Gerald as president of the college and Mother General of the community, was accompanied by Sister Jane Marie, O.P., second councillor, and hundreds of Dominican Sisters.

The sermon during the Mass was given by Father Cyril Burke, O.P., first chaplain at the college, who is now prior at St. Stephen Priory, Dover, Mass. Msgr. Carroll F. Deady, former superintendent of schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit, gave the Founders' Day address.

Classes Start In New Biscayne College Building

Students of Biscayne College, South Florida's first Catholic college for men, started classes in the recently completed college building Monday morning with more than 30 freshmen enrolled in fine arts courses.

Constructed on a tract of land donated by the Diocese of Miami at 16400 NW 32nd Ave., adjacent to the Palmetto Expressway, the first building of the college, named Mary Kennedy Hall, will be dedicated by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll at 4 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 15. Classes for the new men's college have been conducted at Barry College, Miami Shores, while the building was being completed.

Father Edward J. McCarthy, O.S.A. is rector of the new college which is administered by the Augustinian Fathers of Villanova, Pa., who also operate the famed Villanova University. Father Robert Sullivan, O.S.A., is dean and members of faculty include Father John Bresnahan, Father Jan H. Busch, Father Edwin E. King, and Father James M. Seymour. Erected at an estimated cost of $1 million, the initial structure of the college provides chapel, eight classrooms, laboratories, library, administrative offices lecture area and student lounge. Designed by Miami architect Thomas J. Madden Jr., it is the first in a group of eight buildings which will be erected on the site during a 20-year period.

Among students from Florida and other states enrolled in courses of the humanities, arts, business or science are six scholarship students. Each received his grant from the college's board of trustees whose members include the Very Rev. James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., board chairman and provincial of the Eastern Province of Augustinian Fathers; Father McCarthy, Father Sullivan, Father Edward Sanford, O.S.A., former president of Villanova University; Father John Vrana, O.S.A., pastor, Resurrection parish, Dania; Leonard A. Usina and Joseph M. Fitzgerald.

Conducted at the present time as a day school, Biscayne College will add a class each year until a full four-year course is available.

between the fall of our first parents and the birth of Christ which we celebrate at Christ-

Although there is no prescribed fast, the character of Advent is such that parties and celebrations are postponed until the days between Christmas and New Years, and religious customs such as the Advent Wreath are introduced in the homes of the faithful and in Catholic institutions.

Such a wreath may be easily constructed by crossing two boards at right angles and then boring holes into the extremities of the boards. Around this frame build a circular or nearly circular support. This may be made of pliable wood or of stiff wire such as is used in clothes hangers.

Evergreens such as pine, laurel, holly or cedar branches are then wrapped around the wire. Laurel is practical because it does not shed, and, moreover, is a symbol of victory and thus reminds the faithful that Christ's coming means victory over death and sin.

In either wreath three purple candles to be lighted on the penitential Sundays, Dec. 2, Dec. 9 and Dec. 23, and rose colored candle to be lighted on Gaudete, the Joyful Sunday, Dec. 16, are then inserted. If colored candles are not available all white ones may be substituted.

On Saturday evening before the first Sunday of Advent the entire family or community gathers together as the Father or leader blesses the wreath with holy water.

"Our help is in the name of the Lord," prays the father of the family as all present respond, "Who hath made heaven and earth." The following prayer is then recited by the Fa-

"Let us pray. O God, by whose word all things are sanctified, pour forth Thy blessing upon this wreath, and grant that we who use it may prepare our hearts for the coming of Christ and may receive from Thee abundant graces. Through the same Christ. Our Lord.' All respond, "Amen."

After the father sprinkles the Advent wreath with holy water, the youngest child in the family lights the first candle and the prayer for the first week is recited.

The child says, "Let us pray. Stir up Thy might, we beg Thee, O Lord, and come, so that we may escape through Thy protection be saved by Thy help from the dangers that threaten us because of our sins. Who livest and reignest for ever and ever." All respond, "Amen."

During the first week one candle is left burning during the evening meal, at prayers or at bedtime.

On the next Sunday two candles are lighted by the oldest child and allowed to burn as before. Prayer for the second week is, "Let us pray. O Lord, stir up our hearts that we may prepare for Thy only begotten Son, that through His coming we may be made worthy to serve Thee with pure souls. Through the same Christ, Our Lord." All respond, "Amen."

Three candles, including the rose candle, are lighted on Gaudete, the third Sunday, by Mother and each day during that week. Following is the prayer led by the Father: "Let us pray, We humbly beg Thee, O Lord, to listen to our praye the grace of Thy coming bring light into our darkened minds. Who livest and reignest for ever and ever." All respond, "Amen."

All four candles are lighted on the fourth Sunday by the Father and allowed to burn as before. During this last week the prayer is: "Let us pray. Stir up Thy might, we pray Thee, O Lord. and come; rescue us through Thy great strength so that salvation, which has been hindered by our sins, may be hastened by the grace of Thy gentle mercy. Who livest and reignest for ever and ever." All respond, "Amen."

Try A Robust Fricadella Pie

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

Delightfully flavorful bread stuffing, filled with tart apples and sweet raisins, gives a new variation for American appetites to a traditional meat dish from hearty eating Denmark.

The piquancy of the fruit bread stuffing adds the desired contrast to the combination of ground pork and beef.

Fricadella pie is a robust, homespun entree that brings sighs of satisfaction from hungry males, and praises from budget-conscious homemakers.

Bake it in a round cake pan, as shown, or in an 8-inch square glass dish, or a shallow ceramic casserole that can be carried from oven to table for serving.

Balance the menu with buttered broccoli, crusty rolls, and a tossed green salad.

For dessert, cut bakers' cupcakes in two horizontally and place scoops of ice cream on the bottom layers. Replace the cupcake tops and cover with rich caramel sauce.

Fricadella Pie

- 1 pint (1 pound) ground
- 1 pint (1 pound) ground beef
- 3 eggs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 3 cups soft (1/2-inch) bread
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- ½ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon marjoram
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup chopped, peeled apples
- ½ cup seedless raisins, washed

Combine pork, beef, eggs, salt, pepper, onion, tomato juice and dry bread crumbs. Beat with fork until light and fluffy. Combine soft bread cubes, onion, milk, salt, marjoram, pepper, apples and raisins. Spread half of meat mixture over bottom of an ungreased 9-inch round or square baking pan. Spread stuffing over meat. Spread remainder of meat mixture over stuffing. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. (If baked in glass dish, reduce temperature to 325 degrees F.). To serve: Cut into 8 wedge-shaped or 9 square pieces. Yield: 8-9 servings.

How Can Parent Teach Decency To Teen?

How can parents instill a balanced sense of shame or decency in their children? Both my husband and I are disturbed by the way some of the teenage girls in our neighborhood dress, sit around, loll on the grass (even when boys are around), and so forth. We don't want our girls to be prudes or "squares," but aren't there some basic feminine decencies that girls almost instinctively ought to sense as fitting, just as there are some forms of conduct that mere common sense should warn them to avoid after puberty? Maybe we're wrong in thinking there's such a thing as a feminine sense of shame. At any rate, we want our girls to acquire the qualities people used to associate with the idea.

By FATHER JOHN L. THOMAS, S.J.

I think I know what you mean, Ursula, though I would define the terms somewhat differently. You and your husband have reason to be disturbed by the conduct you mention. It is crudely and transparently suggestive and unfortunately not confined to teenagers, for we find it frequently displayed on college campuses. Besides the examples you mention, I might add the current popular aberration called the "twist," the basic forms of which are patterned on the symbolic fertility-rite dances of the primitives.

Because discussions relating to shame, decency and modesty either tend to take the meanings of these terms for granted or to be based on questionable assumptions concerning the origin and nature of the qualities designated by such terms as "sense of shame," or "sense of modesty," it will be helpful to start with a definition of terms. Briefly, by a sense of shame I mean the ability or power to experience the painful emotion normally associated with a consciousness of guilt, deficiency, or impropriety. Thus shame is related to a wide range of human phenomena.

We may be ashamed of ourselves, of violating the code or customs of our group, or of others and their actions. Although we usually associate shame with moral failures and sex, it is much more extensive, so that we must carefully distinguish the feeling or experience of shame from its contents, that is, from the things that are considered "shameful."

What is the fundamental basis or source of shame? It is found in our aptitude either to fulfill our nature by using our creative powers to surpass our present selves, or to descend, as it were, below our true selves by using our powers for purposes at variance with the ends designed in them by nature. Thus as rational creatures, capable of self-consciousness and self-determination, we can build up ideal images of our selves and work to realize or fulfill these images.

Yet as finite creatures, conscious of our limitations and tendencies to misuse our powers, we are also capable of recognizing the gap that may exist between our ideals and our actual achievements. This is the origin of our sense of shame.

In other words we are capable of experiencing shame only because we are able to set up ideals or goals that we feel we ought to achieve and can also recognize our refusal or inability to attain them as a personal failure or reflection on our integrity. Ultimately, it is because we are made to the image and likeness of God and endowed with faculties of intellect and will geared to even fuller participation in the true and the good that we build up before ourselves valued images transcending our present selves, and it is in the name of these images that shame warns, protects, and conceals.

Of course, shame is also a social phenomenon to the extent that we-ourselves are social phenomena. Not only are we affected by the values, standards, codes and customs of our group, but because we want to mean something to others and consequently desire their esteem, we try to build up and maintain acceptable images of ourselves for them. Hence the social affects our sense of shame chiefly to the extent that we attach importance to what others think of us

The sense of shame in its functions of warning, protecting, and concealing, has been closely associated with sex, particularly in the Western world, for the following reasons. Experience shows that sexual desire is not easily subjected to the order of right reason. In the growth of human love, the genital aspects of sex tend to play a predominant role roless carefully controlled. The nobility of sex as a life-giving wer requires that it be treated with special reverence and privacy.

If you're still following me after this somewhat heavy development, Ursula, we can now draw some conclusions useful for education. First and foremost, since shame stems from the consciousness of failure to achieve a desired obligatory ideal, there can be no shame where there are no ideals — a "shameless" person is one who acknowledges no values or ideals worth achieving. If you wish your children to develop a useful sense of shame in the areas mentioned, you must emphasize the positive aspects of sex, for only if they understand esteem as personal ideals the achievement of the positive values inherent in their sexual powers will their sense of shame serve to protect, warn and conceal.

There can be no sense of shame where there is no sense of reverence. This goes far to explain the patent educational failure of the traditional negative treatment of sex. A series of adult warnings, prohibitions, and "don'ts," focusing youth's attention on a subtle, powerful drive which they cannot ignore and with which they must personally come to terms, furnishes no basis for either shame or reverence.

Finally, since shame is a social phenomenon, do not ignore the effectiveness of good family example. Your daughters will later lack neither sound judgment nor needed self-confidence if the models they have early learned to esteem are balanced, sensitive and attractive.

Father Thomas will be unable to answer personal letters.

De Russell a Rutherford

Hubiéramos preferido no referir al público los cargos de infidelidad, de inmoralidad y chartalatanería que dieron tan triste notoriedad a Mr. Russell; pero la verdad no nos dejó opción. Cualquier hombre, suficientemente presuntuoso para fundar una nueva religión y que se hace pasar por mensajero de la misma, tiene que sujetarse a la pregunta que Cristo hizo a los Escribas y Fariseos: "¿Quién de vosotros me convencerá de pecado?" (Jn. 8: 46).

Russell cayó enfermo en un tren, mientras viajaba por Tejas y murió el 31 de octubre de 1916. Su ilusión paranoica de grandeza creció con los años y alcanzó su climax en las últimas palabras que pronunció: "Envolvedme en una toga romana". Así murió el exéntrico fundador de un culto tan fantástico come su creador.

La persona que lo conoció mejor fue indudablemente su esposa, quien lo vio y tuvo que vivir con él "fuera de escena." Hablando calmada y objetivamente, sin trazas de amargura personal, lo apreciaba así:

"Su vida fue un continuo paseo de costoso turismo, al tremendo costo de muchos de sus despechados seguidores ... Estoy muy agradecida a mi Señor que me haya librado de

En el Segundo Capítulo de su trabajo sobre los Testigos de Jehová, el P. O'Brien comienza hoy a ofrecer un bosqueio de la persona que asumió la dirección de la secta a la muerte de su fundador. Carlos T. Russell, después de haberse referido en el primer capítulo a éste, de quien hoy, como comentario a lo dicho en el número anterior, expresa lo siguiente:

este vínculo, que, a pesar de todo, fue sostetenido con buen ánimo" (Burridge, p. 22).

Después de un exhaustivo estudio del hombre y de su trabajo, el Reverendo Dr. J. A. Maynard, en su libro "Russellism" publicado por la Sociedad para promover el Conocimiento de lo Cristiano, llegó a esta conclusión: "Acaparador y deshonesto en asuntos monetarios, mórbido en sus relaciones con el sexo femenino: falso, pagado de sí mismo, apasionado por el litigio, Russell hubiera sido expulsado del ministerio de cualquier iglesia decente". (Pike, p. 17.)

Todo esto nos parece un cuento y en realidad es una temperada y exacta apreciación de Carlos Taze Russell, fundador de la secta que ha llegado a ser conocida como los Testigos de Jehovás. Sus libros no se publican más y su nombre rara vez se encuentra en la literatura que ahora sale a chorros de la activa imprenta de Brooklyn. Mencionar su nombre al término medio de los Testigos, es encontrarse con una penetrante mirada de incomprensión. (Ibid., pp. 21-22). El hombre que una vez fue saludado por sus seguidores nada menos que como brazo derecho del Apóstol San Pablo, como el heraldo del Topoderoso, yace enterrado em el olvido.

Rutherford, el Heredero: Apóstol del Odio

Carlos Taze Russell fundó la secta; pero el principal responsable de su fenomenal desarrollo y del cele misionero de sus miembfos fue José F. Rutherford. En realidad, durante varios años los miembros de la secta fueron comúnmente llamados Rutherfordistas, y Rutherford dejó el sello de rencor y de maligno vituperio, mucho más claro que el de nuestro vendedor ambulante y fundador.

Rutherford nació en Boonville, Missouri, en 1869. Sus padres trabajaban una pequeña granja y tenían a su cargo la Iglesia Bautista de la Libertad, José llegó a ser taquígrafo en la corte del lugar y así se familiarizó con las formas y procedimientos legales y adquirió un conocimiento rudimentario de la ley. Aunque no acudió a ningún colegio o escuela de leyes, gestionó y obtuvo una licencia para practicar la ley en Missouri en 1892 a la edad de 23 años. En aquellos días las normas para la admisión al foro eran notablemente deficientes.

Su historial ante el foro no fue, ciertamente, irreprensible. Dos veces fue sentenciado por rebeldía. Una, el 8 de agosto de 1894, en el Circuito de la corte de Morgan County en Versailles, Missouri, (cr. Court Record, Morgan Co., Mo., Bk. 13 pág. 251). y otra el 15 de mayo de 1895, en el Circuito de la corte de Cooper County en Booneville, Missouri. (cf. Court Records, Cooper, Co., Mo., Bk. 2, p. 376). El 11 de enero de 1897 la Corte de Instancia de la ciudad de Kansas reafirmó una decisión de la corte del Circuito Cooper contra él y añadió a la decisión una censura: "de lo que parece ser una práctica astuta". (cf. M., Appeal Reports, vol. 68, p. 441).

¿Fué Rutherford alguna vez electo juez? No. Le tocó por turno presidir la corte del lugar en ausencia del juez regular, en cuatro ocasiones diferentes y cada vez fue por un día solamente. En dos de estas ocasiones no hubo ningún caso ante la corte; y en las otras dos, se ventilaron solamente casos menores. (Circuito Court Records, Copper Co., Mo. Feb. 17, 1897, 2f. Bi. 20, p. 576; tulio 3 de 1899. cf. Bk. 22, p. 73; marzo 15, 1905 cf. Bk. 25, p. 213; marzo 29, 1905 cf. Bk. 25, p. 239.)

Con todo, aprovechó este artificio para disimular la mayor parte de su vida y para escudarse tras del título de "Juez," para el

cual no tenía, ciertamente, ningún derecho legal. Así, se puso en la línea de su predecesor quien había hecho uso del título de "Pastor", aunque nunca se ordenó ni nunca vió por dentro ningún seminario de teología. (Stroup, p. 15.)

GANA EL PREDOMINIO

Rutherford fue procurador de Russell y al morir éste ganó la jefatura de la organización y se convirtió en presidente. Aun cuando Rutherford no tenía estudios en teología o Escrituras, pronto asumió papel de maestro e impuso sus teorias a todos los miembros. Los textos bíblicos — hechos pedazos en su contexto — fueron forzados a prestar una aureola de autoridad a sus disparatadas y burdas doctrinas y profecías.

Animó a sus seguidores a que se rehusaran a prestar el servicio militar a su país, por entonces comprometido en la asoladora guerra mundial. Convicto de sedición fue sentenciado, en junio de 1918, a una condena de veinte años en la penitenciaría federal de Atlanta, Georgia. Junto con un buen número de otros convictos, fue puesto en libertad, en marzo de 1919, y muy pronto volvió a tomar la activa dirección del organismo.

Rutherford se lanzó a una permanente campaña de violenta denuncia de todas las religiones: protestante, católica y judía. Presentó a sus ministros, sacerdotes y rabinos como "inspirados en Satán" y como extorsionistas Habló de la "Cristiandad" como de una organización de Satanás y denunció a todos los gobiernos, especialmente a los de América y Gran Bretaña, en los que vio a "las dos bestias con cuernos." (Light III, p. 9.)

No es de extrañar que miembros de todos los credos, en varias ciudades, protestaran ante las estaciones locales de radio que difundían sus disparates rencoros y ante la cadena de radio que lo transmitía. Era como si derramara nauseabundas aguas negras dentro de los pacíficos hogares y comunidades amigas. La opinión del público ofencido puso en claro que la calumnia y el ultraje no deben tener acceso a los canales públicos de propaganda y Rutherford, como gas veneoso, se desvaneció en el aire.

Contra los Extremismos en República Dominicana Discute el Concilio el Mo vimiento Ecuménico

Piden Responsabilidad a los Votantes

El Episcopado de República Dominicana recordó a los católicos de ese país que tienen una grave responsabilidad de conciencia al votar el próximo 20 de diciembre en las primeras elecciones libres en ese país desde hace déca-

Los obispos expresaron su temor ante la apatía de los votantes, porque este año de gobierno provisional que siguió a la dictadura de Trujillo ha presentado una tremenda confusión política, con fragmentación de partidos y sus frustraciones resultantes.

Esto podría abrir el camino a la victoria del castro-comunismo o a una nueva dictadura, lo que advierten los Obispos diciendo que hay partidos de ideas extremistas, tanto de derecha como de izquierda, los que negarían los más elementales derechos humanos y cristianos si alcanzaran el poder.

En Busca de la Unidad Cristiana

Por primera vez se enfrasca el Concilio Vaticano en la discusión del movimiento ecuménico, que busca la reunión de los cristianos como meta

La vigésimo tercera sesión se dedicó al estudio y debate de un proyecto de redacción sobre la revelación divina: algunos de los oradores declararon que tal cual aparecía el texto, había peligro de herir sin necesidad los sentidentes (protestantes y ortodoxos.)

Uno de los Padres del Concilio, que hablaba en nombre del Secretariado pro Unidad Cristiana, señaló los problemas que suscitaría de inmediato una exposición inflexible y sumamenete docta de la doctrina de la Iglesia sobre la revelación, con las consencuencias desfavorables ra la unidad del cristia.

"Se insistió en que el Concilio debe señalar pautas de progreso, y no de retroceso, en el movimiento ecuménico; y que antes de ser un impedimento, ayude a esta causa cristiana," reza un comunicado oficial de la asamblea.

Por otra parte la misma nota reproduce párrafos de la defensa del texto:

"Se dijo también que debe insistirse en el propósito del Concilio con respecto a los hermanos separados, cual es el de encontrar en el texto que se examina, una presentación de la verdad integra, hecha con caridad, claridad, sencillez y delicadeza."

El movimiento ecuménico ha logrado "en los últimos años que se entable sobre nuevas bases un diálogo con los hermanos separados, tanto los ortodoxos como los protestantes." dice el comunicado. Hay que procurar, pues, que la doctrina sea expuesta "en un estilo ecuménico, como lo demuestra en su lenguaje el Secretario pro Unidad Cristia-

"Los Padres están de acuerdo en las verdades fundamentales que el proyecto toca, pero algunos tienen objeciones sobre la oportunidad de examinar en Concilio ciertos aspectos que todavía son tema de debate entre las diversas corrientes de la teolo-

La Causa Está en el Voo-Doo

Con la expulsión del Obispo Paul Robert y de tres sacerdotes más la semana anterior, el régimen de Duvalier renueva en Haití la persecución religiosa, haciendo llegar a la docena el número de eclesiásticos obligados a abandonar el país.

Si bien el Gobierno acusa a obispos y sacerdotes de colaboración con los enemigos del régimen, tras la serie de expulsiones parece estar la cuestión del culto supersticioso del "voo-doo".

Es hasta ahora que sale a flote el tema, pues el ministerio de relaciones dice que Mons. Robert es expulsado por haber "difamado" al presidente Duvalier durante su campaña electoral en 1957. El prelado, de 61 años, es declarado así "un enemigo del gobierno."

Sin combatirlo totalmente, los misioneros católicos procuran disuadir a las gentes de los aspectos más primitivos y crueles del "voo-doo" porque contradicen las enseñanzas cristianas sobre la dignidad del hombre y sus relaciones con Dios. La acusación actual contra Mons. Robert parece remontarse a 1941, cuando el prelado dirigió la campaña de la Iglesia para disminuir la perniciosa influencia del culto, que se remota a prácticas de fetichismo africano.

Ahora el ministerio de relaciones dice que "bajo el pretexto de una campaña contra la superstición, el obispo Robert organizó o toleró el saqueo del tesoro arqueológico y folklórico de su diécesis."

Valga notar que el presidente Duvalier, que posee un doctorado en etnología, es un entusiasta del folklore haitiano y siempre se ha mostrado benigno hacias las prácticas del voo-doo.

Reza por América el Papa Ante la Guadalupe

ROMA, (NC) - Su Santidad el Papa Juan XXIII hizo una visita inesperada al templo de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe en Roma, centro de devoción de la colonia mexicana y de incontables latinoamericanos.

Poco antes de la llegada del Augusto Pontífice, el cardenal José Garibi y Rivera, arzobisno de Guadalajara, había coronado la imagen de na de oro que enviaron con él los fieles de México.

El Papa se arrodilló para orar en silencio ante la imagen de la Guadalupana, y luego en alta voz dirigió el rezo de la oración a Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe.

Enseguida, dirigiendose a la muchedumbre de fieles que llenaban el templo hasta rebosarlo, les habló brevemente de su devoción a la Virgen

María, y de su afecto hacia el pueblo de México y de toda la América Latina. Las gentes se habían enterado muy pocas horas antes que el Papa Juan pensaba visitar la iglesia de Guadalupe, pero llenaron no sólo el sagrado recinto sino todas las calles que le ro-

Tras dirigir sus miradas al. nutrido grupo de obispos, sacerdotes y seminaristas, el Papa Juan les llamó prueba viviente de la vitalidad religiosa de los católicos en la América Latina.

He aquí el texto de la oración a la Virgen de Guadalupe compuesta por S. S. el Papa Juan XXIII, tal cual lo publica La Voz Guadalupana, órgano oficial de la Basílica de Guadalupe:

Hasta Luego al Padre Santamaría

El R.P. Primitivo Santamaría O.P. deja la Diócesis de Miami al ser trasldado a la República Dominicana donde comenzará desde esta misma semana a desarrollar sus labores sacerdotes con el mismo celo y el mismo entusiasmo que lo caracterizaron aqui.

Desde su oficina de Capellán del Centro Hispano Católico el Padre Santamaría no se limitó a la asistencia espiritual de los latinos que allí acuden, sino que desarrolló entre nosotros la obra de los Cursillos de Cristiandad, que tan maravillosos efectos han producido en un buen grupo de hombres de habla hispana de la Diócesis.

Trayendo a Miami esa novedosa práctica apostólica el Padre Santamaría la convirtió en pocos meses en uno de los más pujantes movimientos del apostolado seglar aquí, siendo hoy esta Diócesis una de las de más fecunda actividad cursillista.

Comenzó la organización de los Cursillos a principios de este mismo año y se despide de nosotros enfrascado en la tarea de ornigazar uno más, que se efectuará ya cuando él esté en República Dominicana, del 21 al 23 de diciembre.

Va hacia su nueva misión sacerdotal el Padre Santamaría, convencido de que el próximo Cursillo de Cristiandad, en las vísperas de las Navidades, será de un éxito rotundo, similar a todos los anteriores Y convencido también de que a este seguirán otros muchos, porque para eso supo asesorarse de sacerdotes que como los padres riaga Guerrero y Connoly, han venido trabajando

, éi en el Secretario Diocesano de Cursillos y nuarán la obra con al tagón que ál le imprii Cuenta también con el entusiasmo de todos los cursillistas, que mantendrán viva la obra a través de sus "ultreyas."

Marcha el Padre Santamaría hacia una nación que hoy más que nunca — agitada por convulsiones sociales y políticas en busca del progreso y la estabilidad democráticas - necesita de sacerdotes de profundo celo apostólico, entusiastas, dinámicos, laboriosos. Y quizás los Cursillos de Cristiandad, en los que de seguro él trabajará en Santo Domingo, lleguen a ser una de las armas más poderosas para la edificación de una sociedad profundamente cristiana que borre las sombras siniestras que hoy acechan y sea ejemplo para todo el Continente.

Al despedirlo, con un afectuoso "Hasta Luego," hacemos votos porque su labor sacerdotal rinda abundantes frutos para la Iglesia de Cristo en esta nueva misión en la República Dominicana.

Trabajan en las Parroquias Grupos Juveniles

Los jévenes de habla hispana que se encuentran residiendo en Miami estan integrando en distintas parroquias grupos de formación y apostolado, que con el asesoramiento del sacerdote de habla hispana correspondiente, efectúan círculos de estudio, conferencias, reuniones, para después lanzarse a la tarea de captación y difusión, esencialmente a través de los equipos de la Confraternidad de la Doctrina Cristiana.

Entre las parroquias que ya comienzan a tener una más o menos intensa actividad juvenil católica se encuentran las de Inmaculate Concepción, de Hialeah; el Corpus Christi, St. Peter and Paul, St. Michael y Little Flo-

Por ejemplo, en la parroquia de la Inmaculada Concepción, Hialeah, el Padre San Segundo, ahora con la cooperación del Padre Daniel Sánchez, tiene estructurado desde hace varios meses un grupo de jóvenes de ambos sexos, que suelen tener sus reuniones los viernes a las 8 de la noche.

En la parroquia del Corpus Christi se reunen los lunes los estudiantes de Jackson High School y del Robert E. Lee High School: los viernes se reunen los alumnos del Edison, todos en grupos de ambos sexos, actuando como consiliario el R. P. Leonardo Vázquez.

Aunque están integrados mavoritariamente por cubanos, algunos de estos grupos cuentan ya con otros residentes latinoamericanos de Miami, como colombianos, puertorriqueños, venezolanos, etc.

Estos grupos de jóvenes latinos tienden más bien a la acción. Sin embargo, los sacerdotes asistentes, cons-

Algunos de los jóvenes dirigentes de estos grupos participan además en la Escuela de Formación de Lideres que dirige el Padre Francisco Villaverde, la que al mismo tiempo les suministra alguna orientación a través del boletín "Mensaje."

God Love You

Most Reverend Fulton J. Sheen

The rich are becoming richer, the poor are becoming poorer. While one country has enough money to spend $2,700,000 on an atomic submarine, another country reports an increased sale of candles, indicating the low standards of living of its people. Indeed, if a procession of the poor and hungry of the world began at our front door and traveled the circumference of the earth, they would encircle it not five times but 25 times! Hunger is a greater threat to the peace of the world than the atomic bomb.

The psychological law which seems to be operating is that the world is now divided into two camps: those who lack everything and those who want everything. Among those who lack may be grouped 17 out of 21 of the poorest countries, which contain one half of the world's population. Yet these poor countries have only nine per cent of the world's total income. On the other hand are the 19 richest countries in the world, with 16 per cent of the world's population and 60 per cent of the world's income!

People who have are never satisfied with what they have — they want! And what they want is a false infinite - not money that will buy things, but money simply because it takes the place of God. There are many in the Western world who want money more than the starving want bread!

From a spiritual point of view, no man ever loses his soul because he is rich, just as no man ever saves his soul because he is poor. In the parable of Luke, we read: "There was a certain rich man once . . . clothed in purple and lawn and feasted sumptuously every day. And there was a beggar called Lazarus, who lay at his gate covered with sores, wishing that he could be fed from the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table, but none was ready to give them to him; the very dogs came and licked his sores." The cups of both were filled to the brim - one with almost every good thing, the other with almost every earthly sorrow. The difference was that the poor man lacked that which was earthly, the rich man lacked that which was heavenly! It was in the power of the rich man to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, send the Gospel to other lands, but he did nothing with it.

The great tragedy of becoming rich is that man is apt to make himself the center of existence; then wealth does not mean larger liberality in giving, but increased luxury in personal expenditures. The great value of wealth is that it enables one to create intercessors for his soul, who, like defense attorneys, will plead for him on the day of judgment. We give you a chance to win such intercessors now - $5,600 is needed to build a chapel at Isiolo in Kenya. Help build this chapel, and many others like it throughout the Missions, and you will be building up your own case in Heaven! Thank you!

GOD LOVE YOU to M.C. for $1 "I promised God a dollar if we won our homecoming game. We won, so here is my offering to His Missions." . . . to G.S. McC. for $10 "Here are the contents of my mission bank for the poor." . . . to Mr. and Mrs. H.F.K. for $7.56 "We would like to reinvest the enclosed dividend check in the most important business of all - the business of saving souls."

SHARING OUR TREASURE

Friend Lent Him A Book Which Changed His Life

University of Notre Dame Wouldn't you like to share your Faith with a friend or neighbor? If so, there's a simple and effective way of doing it: share with him some of your Catholic literature.

You can start with a pamphmagazine or Catholic newspaper.

Then when his interest is kin- Father O'Brien dled, loan him a book or two on the Catholic religion such as "Understanding the Catholic Faith" and a book of conversion stories such as "Roads to Rome" or "The Way to Emmaus."

Books are missionaries always at hand and ready to repeat their instruction whenever desired. Thus they have some advantages over oral instruc-

Standing like lighthouses in the vast sea of time, books can guide the traveler to the bark of Peter which will take him to his heavenly port.

Their helpfulness is illustrated in the conversion of Harold W. Rist, a bridge design engineer of Dunsmore, Pennsylvania.

"I was reared a Lutheran," related Mr. Rist, "and confirmed in Zion's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Wheeling. I attended church services and Sunday school through high school. During my four years at West Virginia University I went chiefly to the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist services. Only once did I go to the Catholic church.

"Sometime after graduating I went to the Hawaiian Islands where I worked as a construction engineer for the U.S. Engineering Department.

"During most of my three year stay I roomed with John O'Sullivan from County Cork, Ireland. Some 20 years my senior, John had left home at 20. joined the merchant marine and traveled the world.

"John was widely read and could more than hold his own in any intellectual discussion. Kind, considerate and a devout-Catholic, John loaned me a copy

TRUE POSITION

"The reading of that simple book revolutionized my thinking and changed my life. I had known that in the pre-Reformation era great laxity prevailed among clergy and laity.

"I had thought that Luther had been inspired by the Holy Ghost to restore the Christian Church to its true position by reforming both its doctrines and the lives of its members.

"But this book made it clear that Luther went too far: he had no right to alter the teachings which the Church had received from its Founder, Jesus Christ, and had been teaching for 15 centuries. Christ promised to protect the Church from teaching error but not its clergy or laity from sin. The distinction is all-important.

' 'Behold,' said Jesus to the Apostles, 'I am with you all days, even unto the consummation of the world' (Matt. 28:20). And to Peter He said: Thou art Peter, and upon his rock I will build my Church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it' (Matt. 16:18).

"Popes could and did sin, for they are but human. But Christ protects the Church from teaching religious falsehood, and hence it shall always remain the one true Church.

"I read G. K. Chesterton's "Orthodoxy" and many other books by the converts, John L. Stoddard and John Moody, and other Catholics. After receiving a thorough course of instruction by Maryknoll Father Cyril A. Gombold, I was received in the Cathedral of Our Lady of Peace, Honolulu, into Christ's true

Church. "I am now the father of five children, attend Mass and receive Holy Communion almost daily. Never can I sufficiently thank John O'Sullivan for loaning me the book that, with God's grace, changed my life."

(Father O'Brien will be glad to have converts send their names and addresses to him at Notre Dame University, Notre Dame, Indiana, so he may write their conversion stories.)

The Question Box

'Is There A Standard Penance For Sins?'

By MSGR. J. D. CONWAY

Q. I was speaking with a friend about the monotonous penance of three Hail Mary's always given as my penance in confession. She said she thought it must be an ordinance of the Chancery Office; because she always received one to three Hail Mary's for a venial sin, five to a decade for no sin, and one or two for a mortal sin. That seems strange to me. Is there a set penance for particular sins? And aren't they allowed to give any other prayer than a Hail

A. The Chancery Office does not determine penances to be given in confession. Each priest uses his own judgment, and he can impose any good work or prayer which he judges useful and fitting, and which the penitent is willing to accept. It could be assistance at Mass, reception of Holy Communion, the Way of the Cross, wearing a hair shirt, a black fast, teaching religion in a CCD class, giving alms to the poor, caring for the sick, or performing specific works of charity,

Seldom are penances given in such variety; and the reason is that both penitent and confessor fall into a routine and follow the line of least resistance. The confessor is concerned that the imposed penance be performed; so he usually gives some prayers which can be said right away, before the penitent forgets about them. And you might be surprised how few prayers some penitents know. Most do know the Our Father and Hail Mary: so these become the frequent penances.

Relatively severe penances should be imposed for mortal sins, and minor penances for venial sins. Various confessors may make different judgments as to which penances are severe and which are minor.

Why not ask your confessor to give you some other penance for a change?

Q. A friend recently sent me a birthday card and enclosed a dozen copies of a "Prayer to St. Joseph" which she asked me to distribute to friends or to leave in a church pew. She will send me more with a Christmas card. This has been going on for a number of years. I have suggested to this friend that this must be a fraudulent prayer, which should be destroyed. She responded that my diffidence was the reason my prayers weren't answered. In the past I have torn these prayers into little pieces and thrown them out. But a few days ago I received from an 80 - year - old woman — a daily communicant whose life is inspirational — a novena to St. Martha. It involves sending and leaving copies about the church and is "guaranteed" to work before the ninth Tuesday. She tells me it has never failed.

A. If I could find the superstitious litter-bugs who leave these silly prayers around my church from time to time, I would be tempted to tear their prayers into little pieces, scatter them in the rose bushes, and have my janitor and ushers (who tidy up the littered church) supervise the culprits while they picked up ev bit. Of course I would be more lenient with an 80-year-old woman!

The prayer you send is a bit of drippy sentimentality in which St. Joseph is asked to kiss the fine head of the Child Jesus for us, so that He will return the kiss to us when we draw our dying breath. Nothing heretical about it; so it does have an imprimatur. But I wonder if the good bishop, long since deceased, who let it be printed, took note of the promise that if you say this silly prayer for nine mornings you will get anything you may desire: "It has never been known

I think I shall say it for nine mornings asking that all atom bombs disappear from the face of the earth. Watch now, and if those bombs are still around after nine days, you will know that your friend's prayer has finally failed.

HOLLYWOOD IN FOCUS

Greatest Story' Unfolds In Desert

By WILLIAM H. MOORING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — They have painted the desert.

For 30 miles the umber, Utah valleys, soon to be swallowed in the waters of Glen Canyon Dam, swathe between majestic red and purple buttes.

Infinite in their shapes and shadings, the giant, jagged teeth of timeless ages, rise towards the sky. Each in its way, reminds one of The Rock.

Edging from Arizona into Utah, the Glen Canyon territory has become, in replica, the Holy Land where George Stevens' concept of the late Fulton Oursler's "The Greatest Story Ever Told," now takes exterior, visual form.

After my flight from Hollywood, an auto pick-up at Page, Arizona, took me over the vast spread. From Stevens' camp headquarters we drove along miles of newly laid, undulating motor-ways, put in by Utah State to give access from one "set" to another.

In reality these movie backgrounds are not "sets" at all, but natural settings, or chapter symbols, moulded against the rocks like exquisite bas-relief or literally grafted into the natural terrain.

For example, we see the house of Lazarus at the foot of a giant, jagged rock and just above it, built into a natural cave, the kind of tomb from which Christ once bade the dead come forth.

The gates of Jerusalem, a sea of tents readied for the Passover crowds, the Mount of Olives with Bethany nestling below, the house of Marv in Nazareth; these and other recreated scenes from Biblical history, appear to have "grown" there.

They are not the usual stucco monuments to Hollywood ingenuity, prepared as a spectacular feast for Cinerama, Ultra-Panavision and Technicolor.

"CONSIDER THE LILIES"

Simulated flowers, spread in paint and petal over acres of desert, are the one detectable concession to movie artifice. They were needed to illustrate Our Lord's exhortation to greater faith in Divine Providence (Matt. 6, 24-31.) "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow . . . "

As we arrived George Stevens was directing Max von Sydow. who portrays Jesus, and a group of the apostles, including Peter (Gary Raymond), whose cloak had been stolen by one of a crowd of travellers passing from the River Jordan to Jerusalem. "Is not the life a greater thing than the food, and the body than the clothing?"

In this concept of Christ, von Sydow, Sweden's leading actor, by coincidence resembles the Christus painted in 1856 by Sweden's untrained artist, Bertha Valerius, whose work was inspirational and devotional.

Von Sydow's voice is deep and resonant. His eyes are bluegrey, his face oval and his brow high.

He moves with marked dignity but no apparent affectation. "His portrayal", says producerdirector Stevens, "is warm and strong."

Contrary to earlier plans, casting of the film finally (and wisely, I think), places no accent on "big names." Dramatic circumstance and characterization are first considerations.

THE LONGEST DAY (Outstanding). Family. (20th Century-Fox).

Some may regard this as a war film to end war films.

As a graphic, human document of events on the deafening, decisive D-

Day, June 6th. 1944, it certainly is a war film to eclipse all war films.

Movie Review

Producer Darryl Zanuck has taken Cornelius Ryan's best seller, ten million dollars, between 40 and 50 leading male stars, three directors (Andrew Marton, Bernhard Wicki and Ken Annakin ) and an objective point of view.

With these he explodes on the wide screen, a shattering, searing epic of heroes in a hell upon earth.

You know the people. You feel you are there. It is a saga of great cinematic story-telling to which every living American should respond with pride in past triumphs and fervent prayer for future peace.

Thanksgiving Dinner Served To 1,041 At Camillus House

The guests who came to Thanksgiving dinner at Camillus House gobbled up, among other things, 400 pounds of potatoes, 43 turkeys and 200 loaves of

Add to that 25 bushels of string beans, 60 pounds of coffee, three cases of fruit cocktail, five cases of cranberry sauce and 60 pounds of candy and you get an idea how hungry 1,041 needy persons can be.

That's the number the Brothers of the Good Shepherd ladled out a holiday dinner to at their shelter on 726 NE First Ave.

The dinner was served from 2:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. with the aid of 27 volunteers and the generosity of the people of the Miami diocese.

The brothers said the response to their appeals for food for Thanksgiving was both plentiful and widespread.

Donations of food came from as far away as St. Helen parish in Vero Beach and the Lourdes residence at West Palm Beach.

Groups from other parishes making contributions included: Sacred Heart, St. Brendan, St. Thomas, Epiphany, St. Mary Magdalen, St. Patrick, St. Rose of Lima, The Cathedral, Gesu, Holy Family, Corpus Christi, Little Flower, Coral Gables and St. James.

Other donations of food came from several convents, the Dominican Retreat House for Women, Barry College, the Centro Hispano Catolico, the Catholic Daughters of America, the Villa Maria Home for the Aged, and the Knights of Columbus in Miami Beach and Homestead.

Individual housewives, the Columbian Squires and teenage groups also contributed.

Christ-Mass . . . The gifts we exchange at Christmas—ought they not be helpful to Religion? . . . Religious gifts are best because they do what Christ did. They feed the hungry in the Holy Land (the Palestine refugees, for instance), clothe the naked (the Bedouins in south Jordan), instruct the ignorant (in Catholic mission schools), provide Mass and the sacraments for the poorest of Christ's poor (in pagan INDIA, IRAN, EGYPT, IRAQ) . . . Could any gifts be more selfless, more Christ-like? . . . Think about this before you do your Christmas shopping. We can do all your shopping for you (by means of our CHRISTMAS GIFT CARDS), if you but say the word . . . The people who receive the GIFT CARDS you tell us to send, will know they're benefitting spiritually all year long. They'll know that somewhere, in their name, Christ's work goes on. You'll know, too, that—thanks to you—human misery is not what it might have been . . . What more could one ask at Christmas?

ARE ATTRACTIVE, ARTISTIC, INDIVIDUALIZED. They make it easy for you to shop . . . Simply select a gift from those we've listed below-and send us, with your donation, the name and address of the person in whose name you intend the gift. We do all the rest. We send that person a GIFT CARD promptly, explaining what you have done . . . HERE ARE SOME GIFTS TO SELECT FROM:

FEED A FAMILY FOR A MONTH. The Palestine Refugees (Arabs exiled by the Arab-Israeli War of 1948) live in refugee camps in LEBANON, JORDAN, SYRIA, and GAZA. They need food, clothing, medicine, a place to sleep . . . TO FEED A REF-UGEE FAMILY FOR A MONTH COSTS $10 . . . As a token of our thanks, we'll send you an Olive Wood Rosary from the Holy

DON'T LET THE BEDOUINS FREEZE. Thousands of BE-DOUINS (tent-dwellers in the desert in SOUTH JORDAN) nearly froze to death last winter because they had no blankets. We can provide blankets for them at $2 each . . . Mindful of Christ, Who was cold in Bethlehem, will you give one blanket, ten. or more?

HAVE MASSES OFFERED FOR THE LIVING AND DE-CEASED. Our missionary priests will be pleased to offer promptly the Masses you request. The offering you make is their principal means of support . . . We'll be pleased to send GIFT CARDS, at your request.

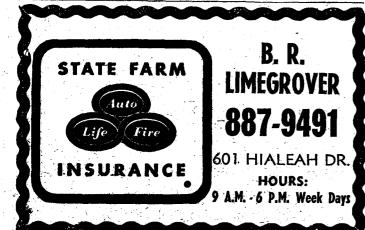

DONATE AN ARTICLE FOR A MISSION CHAPEL. For years to come these articles will serve God and souls, in the name of the person you designate: VESTMENTS ($50), a MON-STRANCE ($40), CHALICE ($40), CIBORIUM ($40), TABER-NACLE ($25), CRUCIFIX ($25), STATIONS OF THE CROSS ($25), CENSER ($20), SANCTUARY LAMP ($15), ALTAR LINENS ($15), SANCTUARY BELL ($5).

I ENROLL YOUR FAMILY, YOUR FRIENDS, IN THIS MIS-SION AID SOCIETY. The spiritual benefits are incalculable. Families are enrolled as annual ($5) or perpetual ($100) members. Individuals—both living and deceased—may be enrolled, too. The offering for individual membership is $1 (annual) or $20 (perpetual).

☐ HELP US—IN THE NAME OF THE PERSON YOU DES-IGNATE. - TO BUILD A MISSION CHAPEL, CLINIC, OR SCHOOL. We can build a mission school, for instance, for $2,500—what it costs in this country for one classroom! Send us your donation, large or small. We'll earmark it for use where it's needed most—and tell you where it's being used.
