SPECIAL ACADEMIC SUCCESS FOR 2L STUDENTS REMINDER

This is a reminder, on, Saturday, January 28, 2017, at 9:00 a.m., in A-112, Alumnus Roy Bahadur '03, will conduct a Special Academic Success Workshop for second-year students. A light breakfast and lunch will be provided at the all day workshop.

Professor Roy Bahadur has developed a law school Active Learning program that is unique and effective. His program has helped students learn and self-contextualize processes and skills to identify and extract rules of law from cases and class notes; pick up on cues during class time that indicate critical material; develop a schema for each doctrinal area and find where each rule belongs; develop a Pavlovian association of certain types of facts with certain rules; distinguish between facts and inferences; and organize case briefs, lecture, notes, and problem sets to create an attack sheet for legal analysis on final exams.

Professor Bahadur is one of only 26 Professors featured in the new Harvard University Press book, “What the Best Law Teachers Do”. He is one of the leading presenters on Active Learning in the Large Law School Classroom at legal education conferences in the U.S.

VOLUNTEER INCOME TAX ASSISTANCE (VITA)

St. Thomas University School of Law is an official site for the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program offering free tax preparation assistance by IRS certified volunteers to low and moderate income individuals and families (earning less than $54,000 a year). The volunteers are trained and equipped to address special credits, such as earned income tax credit, child tax credit, and education credits.

The STU VITA site will assist patrons every Saturday, beginning January 28, 2017, and running until April 15, 2017, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. In addition to free tax return preparation assistance, the STU VITA site will offer free electronic filing (e-filing). The STU VITA site provides free tax preparation assistance to military members and their families, regardless of income. For more information, please visit www.stu.edu/vita.

CONSIDER SPENDING ONE WEEK IN THE NETHERLANDS THIS SUMMER

From May 16 through 23, 2017, law students from St. Thomas University can attend the Water Law & Policy Program in the Netherlands. This one credit class, which includes lodging in the cost of the tuition, is run by Professor Keith Rizzardi, with assistance from the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization Institute for Water Education (UNESCO-IHE). The Dutch have long battled the effects of sea level rise, and their technologies and strategies are being studied and emulated across the world, including here in south Florida. The program consists of lectures and field trips to enhance discussions of the existing law and legal strategies. The seven day course considers the local, national and international levels of governance, and includes field trips to explore culture in Delft, history in Kinderdijk, litigation in the Hague, and science in Zeeland, while also allowing free time over the weekend. Students who attend the program can travel on for the Summer in Spain Program, or return to Florida for the regular summer session. At least one section of Appellate Advocacy will be scheduled to enable students, who desire to do so, to participate in the Netherlands Program and take Appellate Advocacy in the summer and with the combined classes earn 3 credits and qualify for financial aid. In the alternative, students can attend the Netherlands program and then move on to the Summer in Spain program, for a total of 7 credits. The Netherlands Program is limited to 20 students, so if you are interested you should apply and post a deposit. Please note that the deposit is non-refundable, and student must have at least a 2.3 grade point average to attend the program. A draft of the Netherlands program syllabus is attached, and if you have further questions about the program, please contact Professor Rizzardi at krizzardi@stu.edu
